REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The republican electors of the state of Wisconsin are requested to elect delegates to a state convention to be held in the capitol, at Madison, at 12 o'clock, noon, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates of the republican party for the several state offices, to be voted for at the ensuing general election in November. Each county will be entitled to delegates as follows, the representation being based upon the number of votes cast for Mr. Blaine in 1884, one delegate to each 500 votes, or major fraction of 500—each county entitled to one delegate, without reference to number of votes cast:

State central committee.

Hudson, Wis., July 12, 1886.

There are enough republican orators going in the Maine canvass to spread all over the state—giving every county one.

The death of Tilden leaves the democratic party in a bad fix because there is no one in the party to inherit his brain.

A wise suggestion: "The democratic brethren should make the most of the few years that are left of Allen G. Thurman—the only man now living by whom that party could possibly prove that great mess ever existed in its ranks."

The Beloit Argus urges the nomination of Mayor Winans for governor by the democrats. But it begins to look as though the democratic-socialistic coalition will demand somebody else, and that somebody else is doing a good deal of wire-pulling for the place. Too better class of democrats cannot hope that such a man as Mr. Winans will be nominated.

The number of men in the three professions—divinity, law, and medicine—was, in 1880, 254,520, of whom 64,698 were ministers, 61,137 lawyers, 35,071 physicians and surgeons, 12,314 dentists, and 27,700 pharmacists. Hence the proportion in the learned professions (so called) is about one to 200 of the population. The proportion of ministers and lawyers is very nearly equal, and is one to 782 of the population. The proportion of physicians and surgeons is one to 584, and of dentists one to 4,000.

Evidently General Johnston, in writing his very interesting account of the last days of our great civil war, did not aim especially to please the fardent admirers of Jefferson Davis. General Johnston shows that Davis ordered the $37,000 remaining in the confederate treasury sent to him for the purpose of taking it with him on his projected flight into Mexico, while the troops who had borne the heat and burden of the conflict were without even sufficient food. General Johnston promptly and properly disobeyed the order, and divided the funds among the troops in equal portions without regard to rank, and Davis has never forgiven him for it, and is not likely to do it on this side of the river.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune estimates that the value of the tobacco and liquor annually consumed is $1,189,000,000. Of this sum $300,000,000 is spent upon liquors. In this estimate it is assumed that all the liquor and tobacco produced is sold at retail rates. If the average cigar costs five cents, the average pound of tobacco one dollar, the average glass of beer five cents, the "Tribune's" calculation is probably correct. But it becomes temperance people to make temperate statements. It would, perhaps, be well to deduct a third from these estimates. Even then the expenditure is appalling. The total wages of over 17,000,000 laborers is only about $5,000,000,000.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The convention for the First congressional district will be held at Elkhorn on Wednesday, September 15.

From present indications the convention will be as lively as that of two years ago, though probably not as prolonged as no two counties can make a tie as in the case of Rock and Jefferson. In the coming convention there will be thirty-nine delegates of whom thirteen will be from Rock, nine from Walworth, eight from Racine, six from Jefferson and three from Kenosha. Twenty votes will be essential to elect.

There will be three prominent candidates in the field this year, the same trio that entered the contest two years ago—H. A. Cooper, of Racine; T. D. Weeks, of Walworth, and L. B. Caswell of Jefferson. It is impossible to predict the successful candidate. Should Rock and Jefferson unite solidly for Mr. Caswell he will still lack one of a majority. It is very likely that Walworth will enter the convention solid for Weeks as will Racine and Kenosha for Cooper. These three counties have the power to control the congressional nominations this year if they stand together, an advantage they did not possess two years ago. If they are wise in their present good fortune they will pool their issues and win, but if they can not agree, and Mr. Caswell is renominated, they must not charge their misfortune to Rock and Jefferson.

A BOGUS ORDER.

President Hayes' civil service order No. 1, was a farce for the reason that it was not observed and under the present long-established methods of political work could not be observed. In like manner President Cleveland's recent order and circular to office holders is utterly disregarded by those in office. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, a Democratic paper, asserts that the order is a dead-letter in Missouri, and then concludes: "At the recent meeting of the state democratic committee of this state, the holder of the best federal office in the state, Surveyor Lancaster, was present as a member to assume the active conduct of political campaigns, and that the manipulation of primary meetings and nominating conventions by the man whom Mr. Cleveland has made the collector of the port of St. Louis, is not only indecent and unfair and wanting in proper regard for the properties and requirements o official place,' but it has exceedingly offensive and a menace to the harmony and decency of the democratic party before he became an officeholder. But he is now assuming the role of a boss over all St. Louis nominations, and proposes to figure as the chief manipulator of the democratic state convention which meets here on the 19th."

But this is no worse than the action of the president himself. He promulgated the intention of making public office a public trust, but did not. He decided to put out of office many thousand persons of whom he could know nothing beyond the recommendations of local politicians. He made many appointments and permitted his cabinet officers to make many more, and the work of removal and appointment has gone on to this day with such rapidity as to make it impossible that there has been even the attempt to investigate, in most cases. This course the president has adopted, though he knew full well that it would involve the appointment of a great many worthless scamps. He had his choice between retaining tried and worthy men of known fidelity, and appointing new men under such circumstances that many errors in selection were unavoidable. He chose to please his party, and to disregard his plain duty.

SYMPATHY FOR MRS. HADDOCK.

There is one splendid thing in the American people—they show practical sympathy for the families of those who die in a good cause and are left destitute. In a case like this the people never lack the spirit of generosity and genuine kindness.

The widow of the Rev. George C. Haddock, who was murdered at Sioux City, Iowa, last Tuesday evening, is left in poverty, and the citizens of Sioux City and vicinity are taking up a collection for her relief. The city council of the place has appropriated $200 toward defraying the funeral expenses. The citizens of Alton have sent in $152.25 for Mrs. Haddock, and citizens of Storm Lake $86.50. Business men of Sioux City have raised a purse of over $600 for the widow. Other subscriptions are being raised, and no doubt the fund will reach several thousand dollars before the giving is stopped.

The assassination of Mr. Haddock is one of the most dastardly crimes of the time. It is true he was imprudent, and like John Brown, fought where men lacking the highest moral and physical courage would not dare to go. But a conscientious regard for duty led him to meet the law-breakers face to face, and almost single-handed and alone he began to fight the battle to suppress the saloon-keepers' rebellion against the prohibitory law of Iowa. This may be regarded as unwise or fool-hardy on Mr. Haddock's part, but it must be remembered that he had a right to do just what he had been doing, and should have been protected in that right.

Such an appalling crime as his assassination can not long go unpunished. Public sentiment in Iowa will condemn it. The "murder will out," and in due season the criminals will be brought to justice. In the meantime the people will extend their sympathy for the bereaved widow in a more substantial way than resolutions of condolence.

Clear the Way.

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the nongriping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal, when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fibre, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use, on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

SUFFOCATED IN THE PIT.

TWENTY-FIVE MEN CHOKED BY A BREAK IN VENTILATION.

Eleven of the Victims Dying and Most of the Others in a Critical Condition—A Train Dispatcher's Fatal Error Results in Four Deaths—Spencer, Wis., Destroyed by Fire.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 9.—A special from Cumberland, Md., states that the utmost excitement prevails at the Hoffman coal shaft over a terrible accident that occurred at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. At that hour the whistle had blown for the men to quit work, and the majority of the large force sallied out together. Just as the crowd was dispersing, Michael Lyons a miner, staggered forth from the mouth of the shaft and shouted that twenty-five men were perishing in the upper slope for want of air. A large rescuing party started to their relief and made their way with difficulty to the scene of the disaster, a point one and one-quarter miles from the mouth of the slope. Here the distressing sight met their eyes of twenty-five men lying all asphyxiated. The men were carried to the air, where only a few were resuscitated, the majority continuing in a heavy stupor despite all efforts made to resuscitate them.

Sunday night some of the men had improved somewhat, but were still in a critical condition, while Frank and George Brode, Miles Higgins, Peter Brady, James White and six others were certainly dying. The accident was caused by some disarrangement of the ventilating shaft. The smoke from the engine, not getting out through the flue, rolled back and enveloped the unfortunate men in dense clouds, choking and suffocating them all in a moment's time. Morris White, one of the imprisoned crew, mustered up strength enough to crush the brackets of a neighboring door, letting in a fresh current of air, otherwise the men would have all been dead long before they could have been rescued.

DISASTROUG FOREST FIRES.

Spencer, Wisconsin, Completely Wiped Out by Flames—The Losses.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 9.—Forest fires raging in Marathon and Clark counties communicated to the towns of Spencer and Colby, laid the former completely in ashes, and scorched the latter. Fires are also raging in the outskirts of Chippewa Falls, and the citizens are at the engine-houses ready for emergencies. At Spencer, a town of 1,000 population, on the Wisconsin Central, the loss is $200,000. Two large saw-mills, the depot, a woodturning factory, several churches, a schoolhouse, the music hall, and many residences are destroyed. Bucket brigades are combating the flames. Colby is merely scorched, and the damage is comparatively insignificant, but fears are entertained that the fire may spread. The cause of the fire is dry weather which has prevailed without a drop of rain for weeks. It is in the heart of a flourishing lumbering country.

Late advices are that the fire is practically under control, having nothing more to feed on. A northeast gale was blowing at the time it started and fanned the flames through the village with fearful rapidity. Cows and hogs were unable to escape so rapid was the spread, and many were burned to death. Thirty-five families are rendered homeless and penniless, having had no insurance. The principal sufferers are the lumber firms. W. J. Clifford's loss on mill and lumber is 20,000, half insured; P. A. Thayer, mill and lumber, $35,000, insurance $10,000; O'Neill Bros., lumber and hardware store, $20,000, small insurance. Other sufferers lost from $10,000 down.

TERRIBLE RESULT OF A BLUNDER.

A Train Dispatcher's Mistake Sends Four Persons to Their Death.

ASHLAND, Ky., Aug. 9.—Owing to the blunder of a train dispatcher, a disastrous accident occurred at Limestone, forty miles west of this place on the C. & O. railway, early Saturday morning. Two freight trains, one bound east and the other west, collided with frightful force. The engineer and fireman of the west bound train, and the head brakeman of the east bound train, were instantly killed. Engineer John Higgins had an arm pulled entirely from its socket, and a leg broken. The fireman on the east bound train was slightly injured.

Costly Fire at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 9.—A fire Saturday night at Riverside started about midnight in the furnace-room of the Fleischman Compressed Yeast company's establishment. Great trouble was had in finding the water plug, and it was fully three quarters of an hour after the fire broke out that a large stream was turned on the blaze. Despite the efforts of the four companies of firemen present the flames grew rapidly and licked up the outlying wooden sheds erected around the house. The buildings destroyed—and they were completely so—are a part of an aggregation of huge factories that covers acres of ground in the vicinity. The loss will amount to about $100,000. The insurance could not be learned.

SAVED HER FAHHER'S LIFE.

The Feat of a Brave Montreal Girl in the St. Lawrence River.

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—George Greene, a merchant of this city, with his daughter and an engineer, left Morrisburgh park, on the St. Lawrence, Friday morning in his small steam launch for Lachine. They appear to have lost their bearings, having passed that place, and were steaming directly into the rapids, when the vessel struck one of the submerged piers of the new Canadian Pacific bridge, just above the rapids, and sank. The three were precipitated into the water. The engineer succeeded in gaining one of the piers.

Mr. Greene, being unable to swim, sank, but came to the surface, when he was seized by his daughter, who is a strong and vigorous swimmer. The brave girl had a fearful battle with the swift current, and only just succeeded in gaining shore, almost exhausted, in time to escape, being carried over the rapids. When picked up both she and her father were insensible.

The Base Ball Schedules.

Chicago climbed up a little in the base base record last week, but is still in the rear of the Detroit nine. The league schedule stands as follows: Detroit—games won 59, games lost 18; Chicago—won 53, lost 20; New York—won 51, lost 23; Philadelphia—won 42, lost 27; Boston—won 43, lost 39; St. Louis—won 34, lost 52; Kansas City—won 17, lost 52; Washington—won 12, lost 58.

Following is the American association schedule: St. Louis—games won 55, games lost 28; Brooklyn—won 45, lost 32; Louisville—won 45, lost 39; Cincinnati—won 40, lost 42; Pittsburg—won 41, lost 36; Athletic—won 38, lost 42; Metropolitan—won 28, lost 48; Baltimore—won 25, lost 50.

The league clubs made the following scores Saturday: At Boston—Kansas City 1, Boston 4; at Washington City—St. Louis 6, Washington 5—other two games postponed—rain. American association: At Cincinnati—Brooklyn 6, Cincinnati 1; at St. Louis—Athletic 2, St. Louis 10; at Pittsburg—Allegheny 11, Baltimore 2; at Louisville—Metropolitan 7, Louisville 5. Sunday's American association games: At St. Louis—Athletic 2, St. Louis 6; at Louisville—Metropolitan 6, Louisville 11; at Cincinnati—Brooklyn 4, Cincinnati 2.

CUTTING SENTENCED.

THE MEXICAN JUDGE SENDS HIM TO PRISON FOR ONE YEAR.

Border People Alleged To Be Wild with Excitement — Arkansas and Kansas Catch the War Fever and Talk of Raising Troops—Secretary Bayard Says a Pardon Won't Do.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 9.—Cutting Saturday received a sentence of one year's imprisonment at hard labor and to pay a fine of $500. To questions by the judge the defendant answered that he did not recognize the court's authority to imprison him for one hour and that he was in the hands of his government. Upon Consul Brigham asking to be informed what the sentence was for the judge answered that it was for publishing a libel on a Mexican citizen in an American newspaper.

Cutting was then taken back to jail, and will be sent to Chihuahua in a day or two. No sooner was the fact of Cutting's sentence known than both towns on the Mexican and American side were wild with excitement. Two secret meetings were held here, and companies of minute men were organized. The merchants fear harm if the soldiers are not promptly on hand. Citizens are secretly organizing, so as to act on the defensive. Their voice is unanimous for the vindication of American honor and the protection of our citizens.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 9.—The war feeling at this place and all over the state in respect to the Mexican imbroglio is growing in intensity. In event of war, companies of men can be raised in nearly every county without delay. Gen. Thomas J. Churchill, the ex-Confederate commander, says he will organize a brigade immediately the exigency demands.

GARDEN CITY, Kan., Aug. 9.—A full volunteer battery of two guns and forty men was organized here Saturday in view of possible hostilities with Mexico. Services will be tendered to President Cleveland on Monday.

What Secretary Bayard Says.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 9.—Secretary Bayard when asked Saturday whether there were any new developments in the Cutting case, replied that there were absolutely none. "It is not time yet for us to hear anything definite, and I suppose that what comes as newspaper reports of the proceedings of the trial are not yet very accurate," said he.

"Do you believe that President Diaz is likely to pardon Cutting?" was asked.

"I do not know, but should not be surprised if it were true. That does not enter into the question, however. It makes no difference whether he is pardoned or not. It seems to me that the statement of the case as made by some of the newspapers is far from correct. The whole point in the affair is that the United States has courts for the trial of its citizens, and we can not tolerate such a thing as the trial on foreign soil by foreign courts of American citizens for offenses, or alleged offenses, committed in the United States. We might as well not have any government if we are to suffer anything of the kind. It does not enter into the case at the present stage to inquire whether Cutting was a turbulent citizen or not, or whether he has committed a crime. The whole point is that this country is entirely able to deal with its own citizens."

THE POPE SERIOUSLY ILL.

A French Paper Says His Holiness' Life is Despaired of.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The Journal Des Bats states that the pope is seriously ill and his physicians and attendants are in despair of saving his life. The Journal claims that all information concerning the condition of his holiness is withheld by the vatican authorities, even to admitting that he is at all ill, but it maintains that the foregoing statement faithfully represents his situation.

Shot Himself Through the Brain.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—About 6 o'clock Sunday evening a well-dressed unknown man, about 35 years of age, called at the "Valentine lodging house," northwest corner Second and Union, and was assigned a room. Before going up stairs he wrote a postal card which he mailed. Returning in a few moments he told the clerk he wanted to be called at 5:30 in the morning. After gaining his room he shot himself in the head dying instantly. The postal card was directed to "Miss Mary Hogan, Primrose, Lee country, Iowa, and reads:

"When you get this I will be dead."

"Your brother,

"JOHN HOGAN."

Reception to Congressman Lawler.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Congressman Frank Lawler was tendered a grand reception by his constituents Saturday evening. About 200 Democrats met Mr. Lawler at Valparaiso and came into Chicago on a special train with him. At the depot over 2,000 people had assembled. From there the party proceeded to Apollo hall, where Mr. Lawler addressed his constituents. On the way from the depot to the hall Mr. Lawler was greeted by thousands of people and the streets were ablaze with fireworks in his honor.

The Knoch Murders Still a Mystery.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 9.—Michael Horrigan, under arrest for being the murderer of Frank Knoch, his wife and two children, who were killed in a suburb of this city and their house fired last December, was Saturday released from custody. A convict who claimed to have knowledge of the man who plotted the murder failed to identify Horrigan, and so the bottom dropped out of the case.

The Werra Arrives Safely.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The steamship Werra, which arrived Saturday, reports that on July 30, at 11 p. m., when 1,000 miles from New York, during a brisk gale and a heavy sea, she broke the main shaft and lost her propeller, the vessel laboring heavily at the time. After drifting until the following day—at 6 p. m.—she was taken in tow by the Venetian, and headed for Boston.

The President Home Again.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 9.—The president returned from Mr. Tilden's funeral at 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Cleveland and the Surplus.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The World having published a Washington special stating that the president, although he pocketed the surplus resolution, would inaugurate the policy laid down in that measure and proceed immediately to call bonds, a United Press representative asked Cashier Sherer of the sub-treasury, and he said he knew nothing officially about it, but personally did not believe a word of the report. The special is regarded as a canard on Wall street. A telegram from Washington City says Acting Secretary Fairchild denies the World's statement in toto.

MORE BLOOD AT BELFAST.

THREE RIOTS IN ONE DAY IN THAT SPRIGHTLY CITY.

Buckshot Scatters the Mob at First and Then the Troops Try Bullets—A Dozen Killed and Two Hundred Wounded—Dublin Appealed to for More Soldiers.

BELFAST, Aug. 9.—The excitement which has prevailed in Belfast for several days increases rather than diminishes, and a veritable reign of terror exists.

Shortly before noon Sunday a formidable mob collected on the old bridge road and began indiscriminately to attack buildings, men, women and children, no provocation for the demonstration being apparent. The police were early on hand, and profiting by the abundance of experience gained from the events of the past week, resorted to drastic measures at once, and opened a fusillade upon the crowd, which quickly scattered. Some of the rioters were wounded, but not seriously.

In the afternoon crowds again assembled and a panic seized the peaceable inhabitants of the district, who attempted to escape, but were set upon and terribly beaten by rioters. The military finally arrived and forced the mob the mob to fall back.

Quiet again reigned until evening, when another mob filled the streets. Wineshops were broken into and drunkenness prevailed. After several shops had been pillaged, the military again appeared. They were greeted by stones from the rioters, and at once opened fire with deadly effect. Two rioters fell dead and another was fatally wounded. Uttering howls of rage, the mob slowly retired, leaving thirty or forty wounded in the streets, who were taken to hospitals. Most of those wounded were treated and discharged. Twenty-six, however, were found to be very severely wounded and were retained.

At midnight the military had full control, but another outbreak in the morning is feared. The streets were still full of people. More troops are expected from Dublin.

LATER.—The total number of killed is six. Nearly 200 were wounded. Inspector General of Police Reed and his escort were at one time put to flight by the rioters.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The Times' Belfast dispatch says at least a dozen persons were killed Sunday night. The riot act was read before the police fired. There is scarcely a house on the Shankhill road that does not contain a wounded rioter.

DUBLIN, Aug. 9.—Urgent telegrams from Belfast were received at Dublin castle Sunday, in response to which 400 infantry, some of whom were enjoying furloughs in the city, were summoned together by bugle calls, and marched through the streets with all possible haste to the railway station. There a special train awaited them and the detachment immediately departed for Belfast. Another detachment, consisting of 1,200 dragoons and the same number of infantry, left at 4 o'clock Monday morning.

It is intended to place the constabulary duty of Belfast in the hands of the military, who will at once supercede the police, and who have been instructed to stop at nothing short of preserving perfect order.

THROUGH THE WHIRLPOOL RAPIDS.

Two Men Perform the Feat Successfully in a Barrel-Shaped Boat.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Hazlett and Potts, the two coopers, brother workmen of Graham, who went through the whirlpool rapids a few weeks ago, performed the same perilous journey in a barrel-shaped boat Sunday afternoon.

They left Buffalo with their curious craft Saturday evening and went down the river to Chippewa, Can., whence the boat was conveyed by a wagon to the "Maid of the Mist" landing on the Canadian side below the falls. Sunday afternoon fully 15,000 people from Buffalo and adjacent towns lined the bridges and banks of the river to see the two coopers go through the rapids.

At 4 o'clock the two men got inside their boat and were cast off. In a moment they were in the current, and a few minutes later they were tossing in the whirlpool. Twice did the craft turn a complete somersault but each time it righted, and the little American flag on the stern was seen waving defiance to the stormy billows around her.

As soon as the boat had passed the rapids, while the spectators were still wondering if the occupants of the boat were alive, Potts opened the man-hole, stood up, and coolly lighted a cigar amid cheers from the spectators. A moment later he disappeared and Hazlett showed himself and waved a flag. Just one hour from the start, the craft made its appearance off Queenstown, Can., and was taken in tow by a boat. The two coopers got out, clambered into the boat and helped to tow their craft ashore. They were both in excellent condition and said they were ready to make the trip again.

Have the Indiana Courts Struck?

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 9.—A feud between the Waller and Hobb's families living at Birdseye, Dubois county, this state, was brought to an end last week, July 31 while going home from a picnic Waller was shot and fatally wounded, and a young man named Fautz killed instantly by Hobbs and his son. Saturday a mob of about 100 started on the hunt for the Hobbs men (they not having been arrested) and chased them into the woods. After scouring the woods for an hour or two the two men were caught and without further ceremony strung up and their bodies riddled with bullets.

Hay Fever.

I have been a great sufferer from hay fever for 15 years, and have tried various things without doing any good. I read of the many wondrous cures of Ely's Cream Balm, and thought I would try once more. In fifteen minutes after one application I was wonderfully helped. Two weeks ago I commenced using it, and now I feel entirely cured. It is the greatest discovery ever known or heard of.—Duhamel Clark, Farmer, Lee, Mass.

"HERE'S RICHNESS!"

FACTS FROM THE REPORT OF THE MINT DIRECTOR.

Production of the Precious Metals in the Gold and Silver States and Territories —The Quantity of "Hard Money" Now Held in the United States—Use in the Industrial Arts.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 9.—Dr. Kimball, director of the mint has completed his report on the production of gold and silver in the United States during the calendar year 1885. The production of gold is estimated at $31,800,000, an increase of $1,000,000 over the estimate for the calendar year 1884. The production of silver for the calendar year 1885, calculated at the coining rate in silver dollars, is estimated at $71,000,000, against $48,800,000 in 1884, an increase of $2,200,000. The distribution of the production among the states and territories was as follows:—

State or Territory.	Gold.	Silver.
Alaska	$100,000	$2,000
Arizona	800,000	3,500,000
California	17,500,000	2,500,000
Colorado	4,200,000	15,800,000
Dakota	3,300,000	100,000
Georgia	125,000
Idaho	1,800,000	3,500,000
Montana	3,200,000	10,000,000
Nevada	1,100,000	6,000,000
New Mexico	800,000	3,000,000
North Carolina	150,000	3,000
Oregon	800,000	10,000
South Carolina	45,000
Utah	180,000	6,250,000
Washington	120,000	70,000
Other states and territories	10,000	5,000
Totals	$31,800,000	$51,000,000
Grand total		$81,491,000

Colorado still retains the foremost rank as the largest producer of the precious metals, California retaining second position. The most notable changes have been in Montana and Idaho, the production of the former having increased from $900,000 in 1884 to nearly $3,500,000 in 1885, and the latter from $450,000 in 1881 to $3,000,000 in 1885.

The number of silver dollars coined during the calendar year 1885 was 28,097,707. In addition to the coinage gold and silver bars of the value of $27,000,000 were manufactured by the mint and assay offices during the year.

The total value of the bullion and coin imported into the United States during the calendar year was $41,418,120, of which $8,821,600 consisted of bullion, and $33,095,120 of coin. Of the total imports, $23,645,341 consisted of gold and $17,772,518 of silver. The total exports of gold and silver from the United States during the same year was $44,037,749, of which $11,417,207 was gold and $33,380,542 silver. While the United States lost by net importation during the year $15,507,834 in silver, it gained $12,228,104 by net importation of gold.

The director estimates the amount of gold coin in the United States on Jan. 1, 1886, to have been $633,485,453; of silver dollars, $218,250,761; subsidiary silver, $72,034,111; or a total stock of coin of $923,770,325.

Of the stock of gold coin, the United States treasury held, over and above outstanding gold certificates, $75,431,370, and the national banks $120,357,502, including treasury and clearing-house certificates. One thousand and fifteen state banks and trust companies held November 1, 1885, $61,-295,789, which left in the hands of the people and other banks, $320,411,956.

Of the silver dollars which have been coined, the United States treasury owns (not represented by silver certificates) $72,-538,725; the national banks, $6,950,628. The amount owned by private individuals and other banks (including those in the treasury represented by certificates outstanding) was $118,780,408. Of the subsidiary silver, about $27,000,000 was in the treasury and $47,000,000 outstanding.

The report also contains valuable statistics in regard to the consumption of the precious metals. Circulars were sent to about 8,000 individuals whose business led the mint director to suppose that they were consumers of gold and silver in the industrial arts. Responses were received from 4,872 firms, of which 2,700 proved to be consumers. The value of the gold used by the 2,700 firms during the calendar year 1885 was reported as follows, namely: $16,-857,944, against $14,507,000 reported by about the same number of firms to the director of the mint in 1881. The silver consumption reported by the same firms was $3,470,000, of which $199,900 consisted of United States coin, $2,778,975 of United States refinery bars, $10,000 of foreign coin, and $210,000 of old jewelry, plate, etc., leaving only $34,000 of native grains, and about $247,000 of wire and rolled plate.

The result of this inquiry leads to the conclusion either that the consumption of gold and silver in the industrial arts has fallen off since 1880, or that there is less duplication in the returns than heretofore as between original and secondary manufacturers. The report contains some forty valuable statistical tables.

Fitz John Porter Retired.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 9.—An order was issued at the war department Saturday placing Fitz John Porter on the retired list of the army, in the grade of colonel, in pursuance of the authority conferred by the act of congress.

FIELDEN EXPLAINS HIS SPEECH,

And Holds That He "Roared You Gently as a Sucking Dove."

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The direct examination of Anarchist Fielden was suspended, Saturday morning, and the prosecution cross-examined him at considerable length as to what he had said in his speech at the Haymarket May 4. The inflammatory portions of the speech were read to him and he admitted saying nearly everything he was reported to have said, but declared the speech was garbled and that the reporter had been instructed to take only the inflammatory sentences—a fact the reporter, when examined, had admitted. Fielden said that report was not given full enough to show his meaning, and that he could take a lawyer's speech before a jury and by treating it the way his speech had been treated make an incendiary speech of it.

After the cross-examination was concluded the direct examination was resumed and Attorney Foster, for the defense, asked him to explain what he meant when he said there were premonitions of danger in the present state of society.

"I meant that there would possibly be some disturbance arising from the labor movement in general. I did not refer to the present time. I did not say Washington or Patrick Henry were enemies to the law, but said we occupied to the present system of society the same position as those people did to the government of Great Britain."

In explanation of the expression "throttling the law" the witness said he meant it in a general way, just as a Republican orator would say, "We will kill the Democratic party." When he alluded to "worms" in his speech, he meant that there were a million unemployed laborers who were despised and who would eventually resist this contempt. He had not the slightest idea of immediate action.

This concluded Fielden's examination and several witnesses then testified that the police did all the shooting; that Lingg was not at the Haymarket meeting, and another witness was brought forward who would not believe Gilman under oath.

John Bernett, a candy maker, was next sworn. He testified that he stood about thirty-eight feet south of Crane's alley and saw the bomb and the man who threw it.

"What kind of a man was he?" was asked.

"He was of medium build and had a dark mustache."

"Did he have a beard?"

"I think not."

"Did he wear light or dark clothes?"

"Dark clothes."

Being shown a photograph of Schnaubelt witness said that was not the man, but to questions by Grinnell he answered that he had conversed with Capt. Schaack and Grinnell that he could not tell who it was.

The court then adjourned.

ASLEEP IN THE TOMB.

SAMUEL J. TILDEN BORNE TO HIS LONG HOME.

A Simple Ceremony at Greystone and Another at New Lebanon Close the Record of New York's Distinguished Son—The President and Other Prominent People Present at the Funeral.

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—The funeral of Hon. Samuel J. Tilden brought hundreds of prominent men from all parts of the country to this quiet village Saturday, among those from abroad being the president of the United States, Secretary Endicott, Col. Lamont, Congressman Morrison, Gen. LeFevre, of Ohio; Maj. Gen. Schofield, Sam J. Randall; Dr. George L. Miller of Omaha, and many notable New Yorkers, among them Charles A. Dana, Congressman Hewitt, and Smith M. Weed. The body was placed in the casket and taken to the blue-room about 8:30 a. m., and there lay while those who had known the dead man in life took a farewell look at his features, which, while showing some emaciation, did not suggest that the dead had undergone any extended or considerable physical suffering.

The president was among those who passed the casket, having arrived at Greystone at 9:40, accompanied by Secretary Endicott and Col. Lamont. He stopped a moment at the casket and looked earnestly at the dead face. Secretary Manning was also there, leaning heavily on the arm of Mr. John Bigelow, and showing that he was far from strong yet. There were a number of associations also present, including delegations from Tammany, the bar (headed by William M. Evarts), Irving hall, the county Democracy, and the New York city government. Governor Hill did not arrive until the funeral ceremonies had been begun.

The funeral rites were performed by Rev. W. J. Tucker, of Andover, Mass., and were according to the form used by the Presbyterian church. The music was rendered by the choir of the Madison avenue Presbyterian church, and consisted of the hymns "Abide With Me," "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," "Beyond the Smiling and the Weeping," and "Rock of Ages."

Rev. Dr. Duncan delivered a short address on the personal qualities of the deceased, which was eloquently eulogistic, and Dr. Tucker closed the spoken portion of the ceremony with another address, in which he sketched Mr. Tilden's life and services, his qualities of mind and heart, and paid a glowing tribute to the dead statesman memory.

Eight of the employes of Greystone carried the casket to the hearse, which was followed to the train—three miles—by the family, and all the distinguished attendants at the obsequies. The president, his secretary, Governor Hill, and Mayor Grace did not go on to New Lebanon but took train for New York after the funeral train had departed.

The funeral train consisted of several palace cars in one of which—the smoking-car—the casket was placed under a catafalque. None of the cars were draped. The family and invited guests boarded the others and in a few moments the ashes of the great dead were on the way to their final resting place.

PLACED IN THE TOMB.

Incidents of the Journey—The Services at New Lebanon.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 9.—At all the stations along the railroad between Yonkers and New Lebanon crowds assembled to witness the passage of the funeral train. As the train drew near the various places the men raised their hats and remained uncovered until the train had passed by. The station at New Lebanon was heavily draped. It was precisely 3:45 p. m. when the train rolled up. Nearly all the citizens had turned out to pay homage to the distinguished dead. Around the station the people gathered in large numbers and awaited with solemn demeanor the removal of the remains to the little Congregational church opposite the old Tilden homestead. Business was almost wholly neglected. A deathlike stillness prevailed while the bier was bourne to the plain hearse in waiting. Conveyances were also in waiting for the relatives and friends. In a few minutes after the arrival of the body the cortege was on its way to the church.

At the church the Rev. Mr. Burrill, the pastor, assisted by the Rev. W. J. Tucker, officiated.

After the services the remains were allowed to lie in state for an hour, and all those who wished to view the remains were allowed to do so. Fully 5,000 people took a last look. The casket was then closed and carried to the hearse and the mournful procession moved off toward the village graveyard, about a quarter of a mile beyond the village. When the procession reached the grave it was just 5:40. The members of the family assembled at the head of the grave and with tear-bedimmed eyes gazed upon the casket as the Rev. Mr. Burrill offered a prayer. Twenty minutes later the casket was lowered into the grave. The marble slab was then placed over the vault and the family and friends sadly retraced their steps. The villagers who had crowded around the grave then drew nearer and after glancing at the place in which the remains reposed moved sorrowfully off. This closed the last sad rite over all that was mortal of him whom New Yorkers were proud to claim as one of the most distinguished of her sons.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—John F. Trow, the well-known printer, who for many years has published the New York city directory, died Sunday night.

Arrival of Michael Davitt.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Michael Davitt, the Irish home ruler, arrived in this city Sunday morning by the steamer Germanic. He is not in the best of health, having become prostrated by overwork. He was met at the wharf by his wife, Patrick Ford and other Irishmen and taken to Mr. Ford's residence. He speaks hopefully of the Irish cause.

A Couple of Them Reappointed.

WASHINGTON CITY, Aug. 9.—The president has reappointed J. C. Riley, postmaster at Cincinnati; also W. H. Gillespie, postmaster at Dayton, Ohio. Both of these gentlemen were nominated by the president during the last session of the senate, but failed of confirmation, owing to non-action by that body on the nominations.

LABOR TROUBLES IN BOSTON.

The Central Labor Union Protests Against Striking Capitalists.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 9.—The Central Labor union, of Boston, at Sunday's meeting, appointed a committee to call a public meeting to protest against the various lockouts now in force about Boston. Communications were read from the Woman's Educational and Industrial union heartily approving the labor union's recent circular on child labor. One of the letters says: "Child labor, as investigated by you, is in direct defiance of the interests of a common humanity."

Instructions were issued that members of the union buy no bread save that which bore the baker's label. The action of the Young Men's Christian association and Col. Carroll D. Wright, in sending "scabs" to Peabody and Millville to take the place of knights, was bitterly condemned.

Resolutions were adopted condemning the Salem and Peabody tanneries, John P. Squire & Co., of Cambridge; the Lees, of Athol, and others for refusing to arbitrate difficulties with their employes after the justice and propriety of arbitration had been recognized by congress and the legislatures of several states. It was decided to hold a monster mass-massing on Boston commons or in Faneuil hall on Thursday evening next to protest against the action of the firms named and to invite delegates from all the locked-out workmen.

Resolutions were also adopted denouncing District assembly 49 of New York for its action against trade unions.

Congressman Scott and the Colliers.

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 9.—Congressman W. L. Scott, whose coal miners at Scott Haven, to the number of 600, went on a strike three weeks ago on account of the discharge of the checkweighmen, publishes an answer to a communication from the trades assemblies of western pennsylvania, in regard to the strike. Mr. Scott denies the assembly's charges of mismanagement at his mines; denies that the checkweighmen were discharged; claims that he has been paying his men the wages according to agreement with the Miners' association, and claims that the strike was inaugurated by the men themselves as part of a scheme to bring out the men in the Westmoreland county mines and compel the owners there to pay the same wages as paid by him at Scott Haven and elsewhere.

Row at a Labor Meeting.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—At Sunday's meeting the Central Labor union the discussion of the warfare between the Knights of Labor and the trades unionists resulted in a general row. District assembly 49 of the Knights gained an advantage at the start by having John Moran chosen as chairman over the Progressive Cigarmakers union candidate. No. 49 moved to reconsider the action of the last meeting unfavorable to the Knights. This raised a storm and several of the delegates got to fighting. Some heads were broken and noses bloodied. Then two policemen appeared and the delegates quickly vacated the room. It is supposed that next Sunday's meeting will be an interesting one.

Powderly Threatens to Sue a Newspaper.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 9.—General Master Workman Powderly has threatened to sue The Gazette of this city for its report of his remarks at the glass-blowers' convention. This has led The Gazette to vouch for the correctness of its report, and describe how it was obtained. A reporter had secretly gained access to the attic above the hall where the meeting was to be held. By boring auger-hole through the ceiling, he was enabled to hear the speeches and make shorthand notes of them. The Gazette says the full report is being written out and will be sworn to before a magistrate.

MADE A BIG HAUL.

Twenty-Two Boats Seized by Canadian Officials for Smuggling.

EASTPORT, Me., Aug. 9.—On Thursday J. D. Bonness, special Canadian customs officer, seized at Deer Island twenty-two fishing boats, valued at $200 to $400 each, for smuggling. The boats were released upon the owners depositing a penalty in each case amounting to the boat's value. They are charged with smuggling the boats themselves. When the fisheries treaty was abrogated, Deer Island fishermen brought the boats to Eastport and entered and paid duties on them, thus making them American boats, although built and owned in Canada. The Canadian government will not permit American boats to be brought to Canada and owned there without paying duty, so the boats become forfeited the same as other smuggled goods. This will prevent New Brunswick boatmen bringing sardines to Eastport without paying duties on this side.

The Race Courses.

Reports from the race courses Saturday show the following lucky horses: At Monmouth park—Lancaster 1 mile, Maumee 1⅛ miles, Tremont ⅞ mile, Volante 1⅛ miles, Muto ⅞ mile, Pegasus 1⅛ miles, Charley Epps steeplechase, full course.

Brighton Beach—Belleview ⅞ mile, Hibernia 1⅛ miles, Blizzard 1⅛ miles, Miller ⅞ mile, Lenora ⅞ mile, Olivette 1⅛ miles.

Washington park—Mountain Range ⅞ mile, Bob Swim 1⅛ miles, Terra Cotta ⅞ mile, Topsey 1⅛ miles, Tennessee steeplechase, full course.

Solely for National Leaguers.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 9.—The Irish National league of New York having written to Patrick Egan asking him to invite to the league convention at Chicago representatives of all Irish societies which have contributed funds to the Irish National league, Mr. Egan has telegraphed that to do so would be to violate the thirteenth article of the league's constitution, which provides that national conventions of the league shall be composed only of delegates of the league's various branches. Therefore he declines to do as suggested.

The Mayflower Beats the Puritan.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 9.—In the race for the Goulet cup, valued at $1,000, Saturday the Mayflower outsailed and outpointed all the big sloops. The course was 30½ miles long and triangular in shape, and there was a good whole-sail breeze blowing from start to finish. The Puritan, as usual, slipped first over the line at the start, but was steadily overhauled and passed by the Mayflower, which was very slow starting. The Atlantic was third—a bad one—and the Priscilla was hardly in the race.

Did Not Rob the Dead.

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 9.—Capt. Baker, of the revenue cutter Andy Johnson, now at that port, says he investigated the alleged robbery of bodies from the wrecked steamer Algoma on Isle Royal, Lake Superior, and found no truth in it. Only a few bodies were found and they were shipped to Canada. The railroad company that owned the steamer has had guards on the island continually since the wreck.

Now We May Get Something Official.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—P. T. Barnum has written to The Journal offering $20,000 for the skin of a sea-serpent, such as was seen off Rockport, Me., July 24.

Clear the Way.

For the escape from the system of its waste and debris, which, if retained, would vitiate the bodily fluids and overthrow health. That important channel of exit, the bowels, may be kept permanently free from obstructions by using the nongriping, gently acting and agreeable cathartic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which not only liberates impurities, but invigorates the lining of the intestinal canal, when weakened by constipation or the unwise use of violent purgatives. The stomach, liver and urinary organs are likewise reinforced and aroused to healthful action by this beneficent tonic and corrective, and every organ, fibre, muscle and nerve experiences a share of its invigorating influence. Unobjectionable in flavor, a most genial and wholesome medicinal stimulant, and owing its efficacy to botanic sources exclusively, it is the remedy best adapted to household use, on account of its safety, wide scope and speedy action.

Vis, Vita Propria. What is it? Scientists, Doctors, Lawyers and Ministers stand awe stricken and dumb-founded at the miraculous healing power possessed by Dr. Miner, whose portrait appears above was born in Allen, Allegany Co., N. Y., in 1832, of English and Scotch parentage. Longevity is marked on all his ancestry. With nerves as sensitive as the magnetic needle and muscles as strong as steel, with a well balanced frame to support them, it is apparent that he is a proper subject to possess this magnetic power in excess of other men. It is charged against us that we get this wonderful power from an electric battery worn upon our body and arms. This is false. We receive this power from our creator. You ask, what is it? We answer we don't know any more what it is than you do. We are daily healing the sick. All functional disturbances are controlled like magic by the laying on of hands, no medicines. The lame throw away their crutches and walk; life's current again courses through the palsied and withered limbs; the bloom of health flushes the pallid cheeks that death marked as its own, by the magicial touch of a man's hand.

Since the Savior of man healed the multitudes, nothing has equaled the wonderful and miraculous healing of this phenomenal man. It does not require weeks or months to prove to the afflicted that they will be benefitted, results are manifested at once We care nothing for the cause of your ailment. We treat conditions only and all functional abnormal conditions are controlled and permanently cured without medicines. Dr. Miner has leased Mrs. S. H. Shelton's residence for the summer where he can be consulted from 9 to 12 m. and 1 to 5 and 7 to 8 p. m. Will make calls outside of office hours: toct1

OVERWORKED TOILERS.

LIVES OF THE UNDERPAID FASHIONERS OF MASCULINE MILLINERY.

An Industry in Which Thousands of Girls Labor Long and Painfully for Meager Wages—Evils of the System in Vogue.

We hear a great deal about the "Song of the Shirt," and the woes of the women who make those garments, but we pass by those who work at men's neckties, and we do so because we somehow think that those who make up those pretty satin and silk arrangements must find easier work, better pay and less of that monotonous drudgery that seems inseperable from work on white goods. But probably there is not a worse paid branch of female labor existing than making neckties of all descriptions. The making of neckties is a trade, and one requiring rapidity, exactness and extreme neatness, and not a little taste. It takes a long time to become expert, and few ever do attain the degree that commands a living remuneration.

HOW THE TRADE IS LEARNED.

The trade is learned in most instances through the following routine: A person—and there are very many who do this—will advertise to teach necktie making, also Teck and puff scarfs, at a reasonable price, and many of them also promise to secure profitable employment for those who learn. The fee is $5, in advance. The learner is conducted to a workroom, when the $5 has been duly paid, and given a seat among other learners. For the first week the novice must rip up old scarfs and ties that look as if they had been fished from ash barrels. The linings of these are saved and used afterward. The second week is given to slip stitching the linings and wadding. The third to sewing up the ordinary cravats, and then as many more as the girl is willing to give to the woman who manages the place are occupied in making up ties of all kinds, which she takes in from dealers, but the learner gets nothing for her labor. In some instances the husbands of these women sell the neckties.

It really does not require, even for the dullest, over one week to learn all that can be taught. The rest comes by practice. When the mistress sees that her pupil is becoming restless she sends her to one of the houses which give out their work. It must be understood that the learner has been led to believe that she can earn $10 and $12 per week if she is expert.

FURNISHING SAMPLES WITHOUT PAY.

These dealers, who only manufacture and sell very ordinary goods, hire the new recruits, and the first thing they have to do is to sit down and make a sample. Sometimes they bring samples of their work, but the dealers prefer that the sample be made before their eyes for two reasons, first, to satisfy themselves of the capacity of the person, and secondly, the sample is never paid for and in a year the amount saved is quite worth the trouble. If the sample suits the girl gives her address and references, and gets a half a dozen or a dozen ties to make, which she can take home with her. When these are brought back they are examined one by one, by a lynx-eyed person, and if one only is not just right, she gets no pay for all until that one is altered and made exact. If a girl gets ten gross of one kind to make, every one must be the exact counterpart of the other without a shade of difference, or she gets no pay whatever until all are arranged to suit, no matter how much she may need it.

The work is cut out by professional cutters and the applicants for work gets all the necessary adjuncts for each style of cravat she is to make, all cut smooth and exact, but no more, each dozen done up in separate packages. The ordinary neckties, made of satin and crossing in front, have first a leatherette shield in which is fastened a long needle. A piece of cotton-flannel is laid over this and then the satin or silk. The pieces which lap over this are eight in number and consist of first satin outside, cotton-flannel, buckram and satin or silesia for lining. The band which passes around the neck is made of satin outside, satin lining, a tin which is sewed to a piece of buckram and pasted inside the band. This then has to be slip-stitched and carefully pressed, and the band has to be turned, a tiresome job on account of its narrowness. In most of the factories there are girls with machines who do what machine work is required on each tie of whatever class they make, and these are given to such women as have no machine of their own. Of course the difference of labor is deducted from the pay. —New York World.

THE WASTING DISEASES OF INFANTS and children are by no means confined to an insufficient supply of food. The trouble is that the food is injudiciously selected, and the limited digestive power of the child is unable to assimilate it. Mellin's food, when prepared according to the directions, forms the best substitute for mothers' milk that has ever been produced.

ON THE PLANET MARS.

THEORY THAT THE PLANET IS INHABITED BY HUMAN BEINGS.

Some Curious Facts Concerning Our Neighbor—Red Color of the Land—Martial Atmosphere—Probable Size of the Martialites—An Objection.

Some time ago it was observed that situated at each pole of Mars there is a white patch, which increases and decreases at regular intervals. This had been observed for many years before the explanation was suggested by Herschel that it was due to the freezing of the sea, and was exactly analogous to our Arctic and Antarctic oceans. If this was true the patch of ice would of course decrease in the martial summer and increase again as the winter came on. This was soon shown to be the fact. Thus we see that, as far as regards the sea, Mars is very similar to our earth, with the exception that the proportion of land is much larger. On the earth the land is only about one-third of the area of the sea, while on Mars the land and sea surfaces seem to be about equal in extent. The land is much cut up by the water, which exists not so much in the form of a few large oceans, but rather as a number of curious shaped, narrow inlets and channels, which intersect the continents in all directions.

The bright red color of the land is a curious fact for which no adequate explanation has as yet been suggested. Herschel considered it was due to the peculiar nature of the soil; but it certainly seems curious that in this point Mars should differ from all the other planets. The appearance of the earth seen from a similar distance would probably be a dirty green, or perhaps brown. In fact, on the earth we have no soil or rock, which occurs in any quantity, of the red color which we observe on Mars. There is therefore no vegetation, unless we adopt the curious theory advanced by a French savant that in Mars the foliage is red. Unluckily we have no instrument that can at all help us here; the telescope and spectroscope are alike useless, and for the present we must content ourselves with vain conjectures.

THE EXISTENCE OF LIFE.

The next point that ought to engage our attention is the atmosphere, without which no life is possible. Without entering into calculations we may state that the pressure of the air at the surface of Mars would be about equal to five inches of mercury, or about one-sixth of the normal atmospheric pressure on the earth. Now, given an atmosphere and a large extent of sea, we would naturally expect that clouds would form a prominent feature on the Martial surface; and observation has proved this to be the case. The air on Mars being much less dense than on the earth, it is presumable that the winds would move with much greater velocity; and for this reason it has been thought that trees could not grow to any considerable height. We must, however, bear in mind that though the velocity would be high, the actual force of the wind would probably not be very great on account of its excessive tenuity.

In an inquiry as to the probability of the existence of life, one of the most important points to be taken into account is the amount of heat available. Now, Mars is at such a distance from the sun that on the whole it would receive about two-fifths as much solar heat as we do. This does not, however, give the amount of heat that is actually received on the surface of the planet, a considerable proportion being absorbed by the atmosphere; and since our atmosphere is so much denser and thicker than that of Mars, it follows that we lose a much larger percentage of the solar heat. To calculate the exact amount of heat absorbed by a given thickness of air is a very difficult, if not impossible, problem; but it seems likely that, taking everything into account, the inhabitants of Mars will receive more heat from the sun than we do. This would have the effect of making the evaporation very large, and if so the martial atmosphere would be mostly composed of water vapor.

According to Professor Langley, the true color of the sun is blue, and its yellowness is due to the dirt always present in the air. To the inhabitants of Mars it would most probably appear nearly white, unless, indeed, they also have volcanoes to fill the air with lava dust.

Let us now sum up the facts as we have stated, and determine, as far as we can, what sort of man the inhabitant of Mars must be. In the first place, the force of gravitation at the surface is only just over one-third of its equivalent on the earth; a pound would, therefore, weigh about six ounces in Mars. If, therefore, we assume that the men are of such a size that their weight and activity are the same as ours, they would be about fourteen feet high on the average. This would make their strength very great, for not only would it be actually superior to ours, but, as every weight is so much smaller, it would be apparently proportionally increased.

SKILL OF THE MARTIALITES.

We should, therefore, expect to find that the Martialites have executed large engineering works; perhaps also their telescopes are much superior to ours, and we have been objects of interest for their observers. With regard to telescopes, it may be interesting to examine what is the effect of the highest magnifying power we can use. At his nearest approach, the distance from us to Mars is about 37,000,000 miles; and assuming that the highest power that can be used with advantage is 1,200, we approach with our telescopes to a distance of 30,000 miles, so that houses or towns, or, indeed, any artificial works, would be hopelessly invisible. With regard to the supply of heat and light, we have seen that the Martialite is not worse off than we are. To him the sun would appear as a white or perhaps blue disk, about two-thirds of the diameter that it appears to us. The Martial day differs but slightly from ours; his year, however, is much longer, being about 687 of our days, which is about 670 martial days. The inclination of his axis to the plane of the orbit is such that his seasons would be very similar to ours. It is difficult to reconcile the idea of an extensive vegetation with his peculiar red color; it is just possible, however, that some of the green patches generally supposed to be seas may in reality be large forests.

The most valid objection to the habitability of Mars lies in the fact of the extremely low atmospheric pressure, which, as we have seen, would probably average about five inches of mercury. The lowest pressure that a man has ever lived in, even for a short time, is about seven inches, which was reached by Coxwell and Glaisher in their famous balloon ascent. The aeronauts, however, narrowly escaped perishing, not only on account of the low pressure, but also because of the extreme cold.

It seems impossible that a man constituted exactly as we are could live for any length of time breathing air only one-sixth of the density of ours. But it is rather going out of our way to assume that the Martialites would be exactly the same as we are in every way; the chances are a million to one against it; and on the other hand, a very slight modification of the lung arrangement would suffice to make life perfectly possible under such conditions.—Chambers' Journal.

An Interview with President Lincoln.

In 1862 the people of New York were apprehensive of a bombardment by some of the Confederate cruisers. A delegation of fifty gentlemen, representing in their own right $100,000,000, was selected to visit Washington and have an interview with the president, and induce him to detail a gunboat to protect the city. * * * The committee called at the appointed time, and were introduced as gentlemen "representing $100,000,000 in their own right."

Mr. Lincoln heard them attentively, evidently impressed with the "$100,000,000," and replied as follows: "Gentlemen, I am, by the constitution, commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and as a matter of law I can order anything done that is practicable to be done; but as a matter of fact I am not in command of the gunboats or of the ships of war—as a matter of fact I do not know exactly where they are, but presume they are actively engaged. It is impossible for me, in the condition of things, to furnish you with a gunboat. The credit of the government is at a very low ebb. Greenbacks are not worth more than forty or fifty cents on the dollar, and in this condition of things, if I was worth half as much as you gentlemen are represented to be, and as badly frightened as you seem to be, I would build a a gunboat and give it to the government."

The gentleman who accompanied the delegation says he never saw one hundred millions sink to such insignificant proportions as it did when that committee recrossed the threshold of the White House, sadder, but wiser men. They had learned that money as well as muscle was a factor of war.—Lawrence Weldon.

A Curious Custom of Divination.

In Berlin there is an association of theological students bearing the name "Wingolfites," which has for years observed on the Wednesday before Ascension day the curious custom of divining for the emperor's destiny. The way of doing this is unique. The members of the association proceed from Berlin to the village of Pichelswerder on the Havel, and here they celebrate the anniversary of the guild at the Wilhelmshohe restaurant. They immediately climb up an oak tree in the center of the garden and seat themselves on the branches. Beer is handed up from the ground and after the third glass has been drained the president delivers the anniversary speech, after which a cheer is given for the emperor. Then at the word of command all glasses are hurled to the ground and the notion is that the emperor will live as many years as there are broken glasses. This year twelve glasses were broken, so that the emperor should yet be a centenarian.—Pall Mall Gazette.

—We see by a Pennsylvania paper that "onions when eaten give great strength." There is a superstition to that effect even as far west as Janesville; but out here the onions proclaim their own strength, they never have to get a paper to do it for them.

—The six boys who were arrested by Marshal Hogan and Turnkey Acheson on Monday night of last week, came up before the municipal court late Saturday afternoon. The charge against them was trespass, and Judge Patten sentenced each one to pay a fine of five dollars besides the costs.

—Miss Ida Rogers died at her home, No. 30 South Main street, at 10:30 o'clock this morning, aged 20 years and 8 months. Deceased had been ill only a few days, and her death will be a surprise to her many friends in the city. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but will be announced to-morrow.

—North Main street narrowly escaped being the scene of a serious conflagration at about ten o'clock yesterday morning. The presence of mind of a gentleman who happened to discover the smoke, and who poured a pail of water upon the incipient blaze, prevented calling out the fire department.

—The Gazette is under obligations to Dr. J. H. Warren for late copies of Washington papers. The doctor left the Capitol City at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, arriving in Janesville at 3 o'clock this morning. He will spend a week at home and then go west to look after the stage routes on the Pacific coast.

—A horse belonging to the firm of Murdock & Fisher became frightened while standing on Franklin street this morning and started to run. At the corn exchange square he freed himself of the wagon and ran along the sidewalk on the south side of Milwaukee street until he fell and was caught. Several who were on the walk had narrow escapes but no one was injured and the only damage was done to the wagon.

—As the thirteen year old son of William Denning, of the fourth ward, was riding horseback on Court street, the horse suddenly reared up, threw the boy off and fell almost directly on him. Young Denning managed to wriggle out and made his way to a physician, where it was found that some injury had been done to his back, but none of a serious nature. The horse died within a few minutes after it fell.

—Union services were held in Court Street M. E. church last evening, the Rev. T. De Witt Peake preaching. He took for his subject, "The Lost Christ", speaking of how the Savior was lost at the feast in Jerusalem during His earthly life, and how He was so often lost or left behind at our feasts and festivities. He said that we should make it a point never to go anywhere without having Christ with us, for without His guidance it will be an impossibility to keep in the right track. The service was well attended, and Mr. Peake's discourse was listened to with much interest.

—Heimstreet, the North Main street druggist, is distributing a neatly printed business card, on the reverse side of which will be found representations and a description of the signal service flags, used at all the U.S. signal stations in giving warning of the approach of storms, and also the condition of the weather. Mr. Heimstreet has procured a set of these signal flags and has arranged to receive the weather reports each morning, and will display the little signals from a convenient place on the river front of his store. The signals will be easily seen from the Milwaukee street bridge. Read the little cards carefully and you will be able to understand the displayed signals.

—There is considerable complaint being made because the city ordinance against loafing upon the streets is not more strictly enforced. The ordinance provides that "no person or persons shall loiter in or upon or unnecessarily stand about an street, sidewalk or cross-walk or sit about or upon any side or cross-walk," the penalty being a fine of not less than one dollar and not more than fifty dollars. This provision of the common council should be brought out, the dust should be carefully brushed off, and those who have no higher ambition than to sit on a dry goods box, cover the side walk with tobacco juice and make remarks upon passers by, should be asked to contribute a trifle to the municipal court for the benefit of the city school fund. On Sunday evening more than at any other time the nuisance is almost intolerable.

IN THE COURTS.

"Deacon" Monroe Once More—Other Cases During the Day.

CIRCUIT COURT.

William Monroe appeared before Judge Bennett this morning. The Poultry Swindler.

Farmers should be on the lookout for an alleged poultry buyer who is now in this state. He buys poultry all right, but claims he is acting as an agent for a large commission house, and must have receipts to show for everything he has purchased. The agent (?) then makes out a receipt with a lead pencil and hands it to the farmer to sign. Before doing so the farmer is handed the pencil, however, the point accidentally breaks off. The man pulls out a fountain pen, and kindly says that this will do as well. The dupe of a farmer generally places his name at the bottom of the receipt, in ink. The rest being written with a lead pencil it is easily erased and in a few days a man comes around with a note, and as it is signed by the granger, he has to pay it or suffer. Look out for the chap.

Fairbank's Soap eclipses all others. If you have not tried it, don't wait any longer.

200 cases, crop of 1881, Dutch, at 12 to 14 cents.

135 cases, crop of 1885, Dutch, at 8 to 9 cents.

Total cases, 2,710.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 62 degrees above zero. Clear with southeast wind. At 1 p. m. the register was 95 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 71 and 76 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 66 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 97 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For the coresponding hours one year ago the register was 72 and 73 degrees above zero.

Sunday Morning Shooting Affair.

A few minutes past twelve o'clock on Sunday morning, and as the people who had been in attendance at the twenty-nine cent dance at the Rifles' armory were returning to their homes, the report of a pistol fired from the Milwaukee street bridge, quickly followed by a second shot, brought a large number of people to the streets, and to Milwaukee street bridge, to ascertain the cause. Arriving at the bridge it was learned that Andrew Campbell, a young man about nineteen years old, had been shot twice, one shot taking effect just above the right hip and the other breaking the left arm above the wrist.

It appears that young Campbell had been in attendance at the dance with a couple of girls, and when the dance broke up and he and the girls had started for home, they were met at the hall entrance by Harry Bostwick, a young man only about seventeen years old. Bostwick asked one of the girls to accept his escort, which she did. This Campbell did not like, and loud and heavy words passed between the two boys. Arriving at a point near Milwaukee street bridge, Campbell states that Bostwick struck him. At this point two other boys came up and urged Bostwick to "do up" Campbell. They then attacked Campbell, who retreated, reaching the bridge, where he picked up a stone and threw it at Bostwick. Bostwick then fired two shots at Campbell, both of which took effect as stated above.

Campbell was taken to the office of Dr. Palmer, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. W. H. Palmer, after which he was taken to his home on Park street, in the third ward. The wounds are not considered dangerous, Campbell being out most all day Sunday, and again appeared this morning.

It is said that the boys had been drinking too much poor whisky, which was the primary cause of all the trouble.

Campbell appears to have no ill feeling toward Bostwick, and it is doubtful if he appears against him in court, should Bostwick be arrested.

Soon after the shooting Bostwick disappeared. He went home and after taking some things from a drawer started out again. When asked why he did not go to bed he said that he wanted to speak to a boy outside first. He must have started at once for Milton and he reached that station about ten o'clock Sunday morning and ate breakfast at the hotel about ten o'clock. After breakfast he again struck out up the track. Sheriff Hanthorn, who had pressed a hand car and a crew of section men into service followed several hours behind. He saw the boy some distance up the track and tried to catch him but failed. It is very probable that he will return as soon as he hears that Campbell's injuries are not serious.

Lost in Janesville.

It is no uncommon thing for people to become bewildered and lost in a large metropolis, but the resident of the Bower City is usually able to find home at any hour of the day or night. People are sometimes lost, however, in Janesville, only yesterday afternoon a fifth ward lady and her friend found themselves so completly bewildered while driving in the vicinity of Black Hawk Grove that they were unable to find their way home. After going over the same territory for an hour they concluded that they must be out in the vicinity of Johnstown. Driving up under the shade of a tree they waited for some passing traveler to direct them home. An east side grocery man soon happened along and the wanderers were directed to follow him. In less than ten minutes they were driving up Main street. They reached home in time for church, but thoroughly impressed with the dangers of getting lost in a big city.

Care of Animals in Summer.

The American Humane Association presents the following suggestions relative to the care of animals during the heated term:

Provide water—fresh, pure water. Think, reader, how you are refreshed by a drink of cool water on a hot day. The lower animals are equally in need of the means of quenching thirst.

The active dog requires drink frequently during the hot day, as does also the cat; and a dish of fresh water should stand where they can have access to it. Undoubtedly many a dog is driven to madness through lack of water; and the testimony is that hydrophobia is almost unknown in those localities where dogs can drink when they wish.

Every city, village and country town should be liberally supplied with drinking fountains for animals, and they should be so constructed that even the smallest dogs can drink from them. No gift to a people confers a greater pleasure than a fountain, and that person who turns aside a stream from the field and gives a watering trough to the roadside, or provides a fountain at which man and beast can drink pure water, is truly a public benefactor.

Give the horse frequent opportunity to quench thirst at times when not too much over-heated, and before eating. To drink freely immediately after eating prevents a favorable digestion of food.

Provide shade. How instinctively we seek the shadow when the sun is pouring its hot rays on the dry and parching earth. If the pasture is not provided with shade trees, in a convenient locality set four, six or eight supports, across which place straw or grass, and thus, in a brief time and with little labor, make a shade in which animals can rest from the heat of the sun, to the great comfort of themselves and benefit to owners.

Remove the harness from the horses in the hot day whenever you desire to give them a full, free rest, and once during the day, preferably at night, a thorough currying and grooming will not only give rest, but will do about as much towards improving the animal's condition as will the oats.

Examine the harness on your working team, and you will discover that blinds, check-reins and cruppers are simply torturing contrivances, serving no useful purpose. Take them all off for the convenience of yourselves and the comfort of the horse. Keep the stable well ventilated and free from the strong ammonia which is injurious to the eyes. Assist the animals to protect themselves against flies, feed regularly, hitch in the shade, and remember that which gives comfort to the lower animals will make them doubly profitable to owners, aside from the humane bearing upon the subject.

Our stock of novelties in wash dress goods is large, and the price on them we have just about cut in two.

A GALA DAY FOR ALL.

Great Procession of the Barnum and London Shows.

The tremendous public parade of the united P. T. Barnum and great London shows will take place on Thursday, August 12th, and it is safe to say the streets will be thronged with all classes of people to see it. At no time in the history of the world was there ever so many extraordinary objects publicly exposed as those that will be seen in this truly grand procession. The immense number of chariots, cages, and open dens will stretch over a mile in length, and there will be from 16 to 20 open dens of wild animals with a keeper in each, a herd of racing camels, sacred camels, 35 elegant carved golden chariots, cages of birds, beasts, reptiles, amphibious creatures, mammals, and pythons, 500 real Norman draft horses—a whole show themselves—numerous tiny ponies, rare and elegant trained horses, zebras in harness, ola mother in shoe chariot with her wild boys escaping therefrom, peacock and dragon chariots, steam musical chariots, grand orchestrions, mechanical automatons, animals led in leash, such as guanacos, llamas, deer buffalo, sacred cattle, Burmese animals' cheetahs, etc. There will also be knights in silver armor, court ladies in costly robes, male and female jockey and hippodrome riders, representatives of foreign courts and countries, arrayed in the most costly and expensive costumes of silk, satin and velvet, embroidered in gold and mounted upon richly caparisoned horses. There will be Roman racing chariots, drawn by four horses abreast, thoroughbred racers, comic and grotesque features, several bands of music, with drum majors, etc., and fourteen other kinds of music, jubilee singers, brass military bands, etc., a herd of elephants harnessed to various chariots, some 26 feet high, and many other rare and enormously costly objects never seen before, the whole costing $1,500,000. It will be really a most wonderful sight, one that no one should miss, particularly as in the fall these shows visit Europe, to be absent some years.

A Rare Opportunity.

Albany.

—Three surveys are being made north between Monroe and Madison for the Illinois Central's new line from Freeport to the northwest.

—Mr. W. C. Hodge will open up this week with a new stock of groceries in Warren's block. He will adopt the C. O. D. plan—sell cheap for cash.

It is reported the Salvation Army are doing good work in Brodhead. Some forty or fifty have joined their standard. Sentiment is divided, however. The army workers draw crowded houses.

—Mr. F. S. Warren returned home on Saturday last, after a six weeks tour in Nebraska in the interest of the Western Stage Co.

—Mr. F. C. Greene and wife are luxuriating at Atlantic City, enjoying the drives, ocean baths and breezes.

—The only damage, so far as can be learned, from the hail storm of Friday in the town of Albany, resulted to crop of Mr. Israel Phillips, 12 acres, near the Rock county line. The stand was badly damaged. Mr. Phillips will cut and remove crop and take chances on second growth. At Albany there was a slight hail about 5 p. m. momentary with no damages.

—Charley Hull, of Albany, won the stakes, $20, on a foot race which took place south of this place on the first of the week.

—Mrs. John A. Livingston, of Chicago, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. C. C. Bliss.

—Miss Nellie Skelley, of Janesville, was the guest of her brother and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hayden, at the Mitchell house, on last week. She returned home on Saturday.

—Mr. Chas Mathews, employed in Jackman's livery stable, Janesville, spent Sunday at his home in this village.

—Mr. Pomeroy Smith seems to be pleased with the term, papa. The new comer, a bouncing little girl, has filled his cup of joy o'er full.

—About the middle of next month it is understood that ex-Governor St. John will put in an appearance at Albany on the occasion of a grand prohibition mass meeting which will be arranged to accommodate the distinguished reformer. The committee will undoubtedly arrange to pay the speaker in advance, a custom we understand he has adopted as a safeguard against possible loss or shrinkage in campaign supplies. The plan seemed to work well in Iowa, and undoubtedly it will work equally well here. Reform usually costs the people much valuable time and money, and the reformer, for leader, who has ridden upon the wave of popularity may demand a good round fee and spot cash for his services.
